

I am deeply disturbed at the current consideration of the FCC to do away with internet neutrality. True democracy can only exist where information flows freely, and all voices are invited to share and debate ideas on their merits. When access to information can be buried deep in undisclosed advertising the American people are diminished. When only the richest voices have the ability to be heard the foundation of a democracy, based on the self-evident truth that all men are created equal, is eroded. When information is controlled by the few, truth is devalued. Please consider what will be lost if internet neutrality is abolished. Please stand for truth, justice and democracy.
